

LAPCO

FOR LEATHER

Leather vs Vinyl and Cloth auto interiors

We had a client call us the other day wanting to put the new leather smell back into his car, the heady aroma of leather is something many people love, it brings back memories, it is evocative of luxury, comfort and class. So why would you not use it?

The simple benefits of leather car interiors

It is durable and easy to clean and care for.

It lasts a long time, and can tolerate High U.V, that is why it is so popular in Australian cars.

It is a natural fibre

It looks fantastic.

It is comfortable to sit on

It enhances the resale value of the car

It smells fantastic

You can brag about it

They don't offer vinyl as a upgrade in new cars and luxury cars do not have vinyl interiors.

LAPCO for Leather have a large range of full OEM and after market certified auto leathers.

These include:

Daytona—full OEM auto leather in a great range of colours stocked in N.Z, including perforated.

Monaco—sophisticated smooth finish in an upmarket colour range, with full FAR (so this is suitable for aviation as well)

Ravello—a super smooth leather with a large range of fashion colours.

Royal and Extreme by Boxmark—high end luxury leathers, used by many prestigious auto manufacturers including Bentley, Ferrari and Bugatti. These can also be selected in a selection of exotic prints.

Ozone— a chrome free, eco friendly high end leather with full FAR

There is over 100 colours to choose from, from classic to outrageous. All the auto leathers can be perforated, Daytona comes with factory perforation. A large range of hides are held in stock in N.Z

So who are LAPCO?

LAPCO are New Zealand's largest leather and associated products wholesaler; selling a huge variety of genuine leather from all over the world. We are also the agents for NSW Leather, many of our LAPCO and NSW leather upholstery hides have AFRDI* (Australasian Furnishing Research and Development Institute) certification and we are members of New Zealand's LASRA (Leather and Shoe Research Association)

*AFRDI are a non-profit, independent organisation providing Australian and New Zealand furniture buyers with a set of standards, product certification, testing and research.